in by the Grand Jury late yesterday is the story that recently came to the afternoon. One charges assault and battery with intent to kill, and the other charges conspiracy with "Monk" Eastman and with Joseph Brown, notorious New York thugs.

Eastman and Brown have also been indicted, but the fact has not been officially announced because they have not been arrested.

Lamar was in court with his wife when Judge Fort charged the Grand Jury. Hearing the contempt expressed from the bench for the act with which he was charged the broker left the room before the jury returned the indictment, and was about to take a train for New York when the Sheriff called him back. He returned to the Court-House with Mrs. Lamar and pleaded not guilty. James Enright, of Oceanic, who furnished bail for Eastman and Brown recently, went on his bond for $5,000 and the Judge fixed his trial for Sept. 17. Lamar hurried into his carriage and refused to talk. He and the two Cherry Hill thugs were represented by the same lawyers.

Scores Conspidators. In his address to the Grand Jury, Judge Fort said: "The claim of the State is that Lamar, Eastman, Brown and others entered into general, it was argued, would give him a conspiracy by which it was agreed that Eastman, Brown and others were to make an assault upon McMahon with intent to kill him, and that Lamar and others were to assist them in so doing by pointing out McMahon to them.

'It is alreged that Lamar himself talked to a sister of McMahon over the telephone, stating that he was Mr. who was MoMahon's bondsman, and requesting her to have Mc-Mahon at List's Hotel, Long Branch, at a certain hour to meet him. She says she knew Lamar's voice and immediately called Mr. Meares up on the phone and found that he knew nothing the meeting. The State claims to uty Attorney-General at the instance ninth Assembly District may be routed at the coming primaries and thereby put F. Murphy assured Thomas E. Rush of his support and that of Tammany in the leadership fight against Joseph W. Mulqueen, Carroll's former campaign manager.

When Carroll went abroad, ostensibly to confer with Croker at Wantage, he urned the reins of leadership over to Mulqueen. Murphy saw in this move a desire on the part of Carroll to remain in Tammany with his Croker backing despite the present inclinations of Tammany management, which is crying out against Crokerism and Carrollism.

Fight Against Carroll. When Carroll won the leadership bat tle against Rush last year Murphy determined that Carroll must be defeated at all hazards in the coming primaries fight, and he has since quietly thrown the influence and support of Tammany toward the Rush camp. The great Murphy blow was struck, however, when he obtained from Attorney-General Cunneer the appointment of Maurice Blumenthat as Deputy Attorney-General.

Blumenthal resides in the Rush district, and has been one of the latter person's ablest supporters. Blumenthat's prestige as a deputy attorney additional support in the fight against Carroll's proxy, and when the appointment was made it was understood that the new Deputy Attorney-General was to go into the battle with the chief object in view of bringing about the defeat of Mulqueen.

Blumenthal has done powerful work in this regard. He has taken into the Rush camp many of Carroll's former supporters and lieutenants, but the neatest job yet accomplished by the Deputy Attorney-General in the line of his political duty to Tammany was on Saturday, when he corralled thirty-eight of the district, an organization founded by John F. Carroll and supported to a large extent by his financial contribution question on the day of this 'phone call, and that at the hour set for Mc-Mahon to call four men came to the hotel and inquired for him and awaited his coming for some time. It is alleged that McMahon's assailants were men whose hotel bills Lamar had paid.

All Are involved.

thirty-eight other members of the Jackson Club. In his letter, sent to Rush vesterday, Mr. Keating criticises with some warmth the method of Mr. Mulqueen's election as leader by Mr. Carroll, upon the retirement of the latter last year, and asserts that "it cannot be said that Mulqueen's title to the position is based on the consent of the electors of the district, and this, if no other reason, impels me to be against his candidacy. Mulray G. Dannenbaum, who recently returned from abroad and who, last year, supported Carroll, has "lined up" with the Rush forces, and declared to day that the Jackson Club is prepared to enter the Rush camp.
